EMOTIONAL LITERACY

- Emotions are information. This does not mean they are based on facts from that which is external to you. They are based on you - your unique perceptions, beliefs, conscious and subconscious programming, experiences, and more.
- Emotions are like the weather - they come and go, and are what they are, whether we like it or not. Shaming or avoiding emotions is not useful nor rational. Learning to feel and understand your emotions is an essential life skill.
- Researchers propose there are 5 to 27 primary emotions (Leitzke & Pollak, 2016). These foundational emotions blend and mix like paint colors creating hues of approximately 34,000 distinguishable felt emotions.
- Although it isn't possible to explain 34,000+ emotions, identifying primary emotions and their purpose provides you with a framework for Emotional Literacy. This worksheet provides you with a BROAD OVERVIEW of primary emotions and a few blended emotions. Learn more at: <https://www.creatingyourbalance.com/emotions>

FIVE PRIMARY EMOTIONS

EACH GROUP OF EMOTIONS CONTAIN SPECIFIC INFORMATION ABOUT YOURSELF, YOUR RELATIONSHIPS AND YOUR EXPERIENCES. THE FOLLOWING PAGES PROVIDE A BROAD OVERVIEW OF PRIMARY EMOTIONS AND THEIR BASIC PURPOSE.

"I would not look upon anger as something foreign to me that I have to fight... I have to deal with my anger with care, with love, with tenderness, with nonviolence.."

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

Which emotions are most comfortable for you to feel and work with right now?

What purpose and gifts do these comfortable emotions bring you?

How do you respond when these comfortable emotions arise?

Which emotions are most challenging for you to work with right now?

What purpose and gifts do these challenging emotions bring you?

How do you respond when these challenging emotions arise?

What emotions are you especially resistant to?

Which ones would you like to get rid of completely if you could?

What is it about these emotions that you dislike so much?

Are you able to see how removing these emotions you've been resistant to is not possible, as all human-beings have them and they are part of our physiology?

Do you see how you may have learned to try to numb, escape, self-medicate, ignore, shame, over-share, "talk-away," or even try to "orphan out" certain emotions by making others responsible for them?

Do you see how imperative it is to take 100% responsibility for all of your emotions, so you may be empowered to self-connect, understand why you are having the specific emotion, realize the information within it and allow for calm?

If you were to guess, how can you allow more preferred emotions to occur in life, and less of the unwanted emotions?
